THE TORCH MUST BE APPLIED. THE TORCH MUST BE APPLIED.

An army of men has been for the two days employed in clearing up the wreck in the city proper, and, although hundreds of bodies have been recovered, not one afth of the ground has yet been gone over. In many places the field to wenty-five or thirty feet and, and not infrequently great drifts cover an area of near cyters are as a property.

an acre. Narrow passages have been cut through in every direction, but the hercu-lean labor of removing the rubbish has yet hardly begun.

At a meeting of the Central Relief Committee Gen. Hastings suggested the advisability of applying the torch to the great sea bility of applying the torch to the great sea of waste. He explained that this was only part of the great work yet to be accomplished, if it were hoped to thoroughly clear every portion of débris, and he insisted that it would take 50,000 men months to complete the task. Of the hundreds of bodies buried beneath the rubbish, sand and stones, rotten or putrid remains were all that could be hoped to be recovered.

A motion was made that, after 48 hours of further search, the débris of the city should be consumed by fire, the engines to be on hand to play upon buildings that, despite previous destruction, are valuable and might become ignited by the general conflagration.

Those whose relatives or friends still resi peneath the wreck remonstrated strongly against any such summary action.

Physicians warned the committee that further exposure of putrid bodies could have but one result, the typhus or some other epidemic equally fatal to its victims. Although the proposition to burn the wreck was defeated, it was evident that the movement was gaining many adherents, and the result doubtless will be that in a few days the torch will be applied.

HUNDREDS INTERRED AT NINEVEH.
At Nineveh 746 bodies were consigned to earth today from the morgue at that town.

At Nineveh 746 bodies were consigned to earth today from the morgue at that town. This army of dead was placed in trenches. Less than 100 had been recognized by friends. None of them were claimed for private burial, however, as in a majority of instances the survivors were too poor to stand the expense.

There is an unusual amount of sickness about Kenville. Physicians claim that several hundred cases of pneumonia exist. Children are also afflicted with measles and kindred complaints. The reaction, now that the great shock has passed in a measure, has left hundreds of survivors with their nervous forces badly shattered and broken.

Johnstown and the adjoining villages are now under military and police regulations. Each place has been provided with men enough to keep out intruders and others, and none save those who are actually employed are allowed to remain. Officers are arresting men every hour, some of them on the alightest provocation. In all cases where the offense is trivial the victims are pressed into work with the relief gangs.

Notices were posted in all the morgues today stating that after today bodies would be held only 24 hours for identification. If at the expiration of that time they are not recognized they are photographed, the photograph bearing the same number as the morgue number of the corpse. Recognition is a difficult matter, as the bodies are most terribly bruised and discolored when recovered.

NEW THEORY ABOUT THE FLOOD.

Thomas Jacobs of Morreliville is one of the oldest inhabitants of the Conemaugh Valley. He said today that the water of the river was much higher in 1837 than last Friday, even after the dam broke.

"The whole trouble about this deplorable affair," he continued, "seems to be from the narrowing of the channel of the river and the deflection of its course. I remember well when the channel randown where the mill below the bridge now standa. The Conemaugh has always been a shallow stream. Afterheavy rainfalls it rises rapidly, as all mountain streams do. Its watershed is large, and the hillsides are so constructed that the water runs down rapidly, causing quick rises and turbulent currents. Primarily, I hold the Cambria Iron Company responsible for the narrowing of the channel; seenondly, the South Fork Club for not having made their dam secure beyond all possibility of a break, especially when they caused the dam to be enlarged by raising the breast; and, thirdly, the Pennsylvania

THE FIRST ORIENTAL STEAMER FOR SAN DIEGO.

Will Leave Yokohama on the 15th Inst., and Continuous Trips Will Follow - Testing Railway Discrimination at Santa Barbara-Notes.

It is now a settled fact that the Peninsular and Oriental Company, which is the most powerful steamship company in the world, will run its steamers to San Diego instead of San Francisco. THE TIMES was the first paper on the coast to state positively several weeks ago that this change would be made, but the idea was hooted at by a great many who did not believe that the trade could be taken away from San Francisco. The change will be made one week from tomorrow or on the 15th inst. when the first steamer will sail from Yokohama loaded with 300 carloads of freight for San Diego. Two other steamers will sail almost immediately for the same port, and from that time on these big steamers will put into the port of San Diego every few days. It is a big thing for Southern California, and will give San Diego a boom such as she never dreamed of.

The first steamer will reach San that the trade could be taken away

The first steamer will reach San The first steamer will reach San Diego early in July, and to properly celebrate the occasion the Santa Fé people, who have been instrumental in this change, will run an excursion to the city of Baynclimate, so that the people may see the first big steamer put into port. It will be a great day in San Diego, for it is understeod that the whole city will turn out to celebrate. The Santa Fé people are exultant over this achievement, for they consider it one of the biggest strokes they have ever made. It gives them an adhave ever made. It gives them an advantage over the Southern Pacific Company that they never dreamed of getting, for it was not believed until a few months since that the China trade could be taken away from San Francisco.

BIG SHIPS AT REDONDO BEACH. The people of Redondo Beach are perfectly happy, and feel almost as big as San Diego will feel when the firs as San Diego will reel when the first steamer on the Oriental line reaches their port. The cause of Redondo Beach's happiness is the arrival of two big ships in the port loaded with reight for Los Angeles. The ships are larger than any that have ever before visited this coast south of San Francisco, and the citizens of Redondo are confident that they will, in the near future, have the finest harbor on the coast.

The coal fields were purchased by a Chicago syndicate for $250,000 a few months ago. It is considered the best mine on the coast. The outlet for coal will be Guaymas, and it is considered a big thing for that city. This road will pass through a mining region that has never been worked, for the reason that the mines were too far from transportation, but several big companies are being formed now, and as the districts are very rich in gold and silver, a boom is expected in mining circles.

Mr. Wilkins says the wheat crop is much larger than ever before. The outlet for grain is through Benson, El Paso and New Orleans to Liverpool.

Guaymas has been free of yellow fever for the past four months, and is growing rapidly.

Mr. Wilkins left for Guaymas last night, and will not be in this city again for several months. He is of the opinion that the Santa Fé Company is much stronger now then it has ever much stronger now than it has ever been before, and thinks it is in a fair way to become the most powerful rail-road company in the world.

AFTER THE COMMISSIONERS. The following is from the Chronicle of Wednésday last:

In March last Charles Weile of Sar In March last Charles Welle of Santa Barbara filed a complaint with the Railroad Commission, alleging that he had been overcharged $2.38 on a shipment of olive trees from Pomona to Santa Barbara. An answer explanatory of the facts in the case and alleging that, so far from overcharging Mr. Welle, he had been given the benefit of the lowest rates under the western classification, was filed with the secretary of the commission by Richard Gray, freight agent of the Southern Pacific. The answer was forwarded to Mr. Weile, with the statement that "the rates being the regular rates charged for such goods," they would be sustained by the commission. In an open letter to the Railroad Commissioners sent to the Chroniele Mr. Weile alleges that the object of his entire correspondence is to draw attention to what appears to him to be a wide departure from general principles of freight charges caused by a laxity in the construction of the provisions for freight rates sanctioned by the board. The clause, he says, under which the abuse is practiced is so elastic that it does not matter whether an article weighs 80, 50 or one pound, it counts always for 100 pounds, so that a shipment of 100 one-pound packages would count 10,000 pounds. The writer sums up: "I did not ship single plants, nor even packages of five or ten pounds, but bales of trees averaging 72 pounds each, several plants in one package in a compact form, such as Mr. Gray states the clause contemplates, and entailing no more expense than if they had weighed the iron-elad hr. HOW BUNCO SHARP HOOD GOT

Judge Clark to Get a Straw Bond Approved-Judge Cheney De clares Both Bonds Forfeited-A Chance for Explanations.

Rose and Hood, the bunco men have once again demonstrated the fact that they are exceedingly slip pery individuals. Yesterday was the day set for their trial in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court, before Judge Cheney, on the charge of hav ing conspired to cheat and defraud ex Judge John B. Haskins of New York When their names were called Frank Rose alone responded to his name S. M. Payton, attorney for the defense, stated to the Court that he re gretted to say that James Hood was lrunk, having an unfortunate tendency in that direction; he had seen Hood in an intoxicated condition the Judge Cheney then began to inquire into the bond juggle, and asked how it came that the old bondsmen had not notified the Court of their action in surrendering Hood on that bond. The more he thought about it the more serious he became. Finally he said "This surrender of the accused by his old bondsmen, the defendant, Rose, being one of them, has a very suspicious appearance. It appears that the release of Hood upon a new bond was secured in another court, and that no notice of it has been given as provided by law. I shall declare as provided by law. I shall declare the old bond forfeited as well as the new, and the old bondsmen will be responsible."

Mr. Payton addressed the Court, and said that he hoped the Court did not reflect on him in the matter; that he knew nothing about it, and had had nothing to do with any bond matter. Judge Cheney replied that he made no reflection whatever on Mr. Payton; he believed his word as much as his oath, and felt certain that he had nothing to do with it.

It was perfectly evident that crookedness had taken place in some direction, and the investigation re-sulted in the discovery of as smooth a suited in the discovery of as smooth a piece of business as has ever been accomplished in the city, by which Rose hoped to fix it so that Hood could run away and at the same time keep himself whole as one of the bondsmen for his partner in crime. pers used on the application, they are exerated accordingly. Instead of proceeding according to law, and going to Judge Cheney, in whose court the case was pending, what Rose did was to go with Hood to the County Jail at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. He was there a few min-utes and went away. He had been gone only a few minutes when Attor-ney Fred McGregor appeared with an order from Judge Clark for Hood's release and a new bond, upon which, of course, Hood was released. The method by which the order of release was obtained embraces the fraud perpetrated by some one, and is best told by Judge Clark himself, whose statement is as follows:

up by telephone at the California Club. I said it was all right, and Hood was released. It seemed a queer proceeding, but the order of the Court was all right, and I had to let him go. Hood was not in here more than half an hour altogether. When Rose was here McGregor must have been with Judge Clark, cetting the new hond. Rose Clark, getting the new bond. Ro had been gone only a very few minutes when McGregor came."

The following is the order of Judge Clark releasing Hood, and shows that he had no idea of the true nature of what the men were doing:

what the men were doing:

given for his appearance to answer said charge.

Judge of the Superior Court.

The sureties on the new bond thus

The sureties on the new bond thus given were M. Hanley and W. Goldman. A careful inquiry failed to show who they are or where they live, and it is the opinion of the officers that the bondsmen are men of straw. In connection with W. Goldman it is interesting to note that his is the same flame that figured on the bonds of a couple of bunco men some time ago. They skipped in the same manner that Hood has done, and the officers have been trying to find W. Goldman ever since. He has failed to manage the same way to be a same as a same and the same are some and the same are some as a same as a man ever since. He has failed to materialize, however, until the necessary juncture in the Hood case.

Mr. McGregor, who has figured as the attorney in this disgraceful and slick proceeding, was hunted up, and said with earnestness that he did what he did as a matter of legal business, for which he was paid $20. In response to questions, he said:

"All 1 know about the matter is that some men called on me and said Hood was in jail, and they wanted me to fix up a bond to get him out. I made the bond, and went to Judge Clark with it up a bond to get him out. I made the bond, and went to Judge Clark with it and the bondsmen. I did not know what the case was. I did not tell Judge Clark that it was the bunco case. He did not know that there was a former bond, and I did not, either. It is just as I tell you. The men came to me, and I made out the bond. That is all I know about it. I went to the jail and had Hood released. I did not now his case was coming up today in Judge Cheney's court.

Judge Cheney's court."

Judge Cheney was afterwards seen and he said that Hood was not under bail from Justice Lockwood at the time Judge Clark, was inveigled into approving the bond, but was under bond from him in the Superior Court. The representations made to Judge Clark were false, and it is necessary to thoroughly sift the matter and see who is responsible for the crooked proceeding. When the case comes up again this morning steps of some kind will be taken to place the responsibility where it belongs. Diligent search was made yesterday for Hood, but he could not be found.

A CHARGE OF MAYHEM.

His Face Battered and His Finger Bitten Off. A sadly-battered man appeared in Justice Lockwood's court vesterday afternoon, as the complaining witness on a complaint for mayhem against Frank Werst. His name is Charles McTaggart, and he resides at No. 146

California street, where Werst, also cooms. McTaggart's face was reacted and besten up into almost a face was added to the face of the court of him and bit of his finger. The court held the defendant to answer in ligerent McTaggart, and heard that the latter wanted to whip him. Some ladies at the house asked him to keep out of McTaggart's way, and he did so, not going to his room until 4 o'clock in the morning. He had scarcely got into his room when McTaggart appeared in the doorway and announced his intention of carrying out his threat. The ladies came screaming to the room, and tried to prevent the fray, but unsuccessfully. McTaggart made a spring for his prey, and hit him in the face a vicious right-hander, which landed on his eye. Werst now developed into something of a fighter himself. He clinched with McTaggart and they rolled on the floor. The latter poked his finger into Werst's mouth and tried to get an ugly chin-hold on him; but Werst closed on the finger and bit it clear off. He turned in and pounded the latter until McTaggart roared for mercy, and he will probably never promise to whip Werst again. Werst says he never had trouble before that with McTaggart, and that this is the first fight he has ever had in his life.

THE FLAG COTTAGE.

Its Removal Hailed with Great Sat-

The notorious Flag Cottage has at last been wiped out of existence. Sheriff Aguirre made up his mind as soon as he took office to rid the city of An Evening Paper Works the Symone of the blackest dens that ever disgraced the outskirts of any city in America, and he did not rest until he had secured a conviction of both of the people who conducted it. McCor-mick and his "woman" were duly fined the other day, and yesterday they moved their traps and furniture

The neighbors watched the perform The neighbors watched the performance with a great deal of satisfaction, and when the last load left the house, a shout of joy went up that might have been heard several blocks off. It might be well for the Sheriff to see that these McCormicks do not open a second "flag cottage" in some other locality.

By stipulation of counsel, a motion for alimony, attorneys' fees and costs was heard before Judge McKinley yes-terday afternoon in the divorce case of Joshua De Turk vs. Mary L. De of Joshua De Turk vs. Mary L. De Turk. The motion was originally set to be heard by Judge Shaw next Monday, but it was taken up at once by stipulation. The hearing was with closed doors. After the introduction of testimony, Judge McKinley granted the motion. He fixed the alimony at $75 a month, allowed attorneys' fees of $200 and costs of $100. Divorce proceedings were begun by Mr. De Turk against his wife in April, and a cross complaint was filed by his wife a few weeks ago.

A MANAGER.

HE TRIED TO MAKE A QUEER COMBINATION.

Other Words He Wanted the Minstrels to Perform at One End of the Hall and the Salvation Army at the Other.

The life of a country theatrical manger is a singular one, and very often he is guilty of doing strange things. Manager Johnson of Santa Ana has the making of a great manager. Week efore last a minstrel .company was pooked for his house. The town was oilled, and everything was in readiness for the opening when the company arrived. Manager Johnson met them at he depot, and, after shaking hands all around, he and the minstrel's head men locked arms and started for the boss beer saloon of the town.

"So you think we will have a big ouse tonight?" asked the "nigger

"Don't think anything bout it; know you will. I've got a new scheme, a I'll bet you five to one we pack hall," replied Johnson, rubbing I'll bet you five to one we pack the hall," replied Johnson, rubbing his hands in glee.

"What's your scheme?"
"Today the Salvation Army came down from Los Angeles and wanted the hall. It's the only place in town suitable for them to give a show in, and when I told them it was engaged for tonight the female captain went off in a fit. As soon as she came around for tonight the female captain went off in a fit. As soon as she came around she lit into me and told me that if I allowed those unholy 'nigger' singers to occupy the hall and keep the soldiers of God from carrying on the good fight against the devil, my soul would certainly be damned. I tried to argue the matter with her, but all to no purpose, for she could talk all around me, and I was about to give in and stand you off, when a happy idea struck me. I knew that both shows would draw from different classes, and as neither from different classes, and as neither company had ever been in town before, my managerial soul told me that if I could get you and the army to harmon-ize I could pack the house. I asked the female captain a few questions as to what kind of a stage she wanted, and when she told me that a cheap platform would answer, I told her that I would rent her one and of the ball and that she could end of the hall, and that she could draw from the band of unholy people who came into the hall to see the minstrels. The idea struck her all right, so I went to work and have put up a nice little platform in the rear of the hall. The army will be there in force, and when your first part opens up to-night the army will sing--

There are no flies on Jesus: There're two or three on you and me, But there are no flies on Jesus.'

"The audience will be delighted, and we will capture the town." The minstrel man was thunderstruck. At first he could hardly open his mouth, but when he did get his tongue in motion he swore a blue streak, and the great manager made a bee line for the hall. It is needless to say that the army platform was yanked down, and the soldiers held an open-air meeting that night. The manager was heart-broken, but he had to stand it, and the boys say they missed the greatest show of the search on account of the inclusion. we will capture the town." say they missed the greatest show of the season on account of the jealous disposition exhibited by that hoggish

California street, where Werst also rooms McTaggart's face was reached and beaten up into almost a the was a doint looking said what he had to say in a one that factity admitted the fact. He said that Werst nearly pummelled the life out of him and bit off his finger. The Court held the defendant to answer in bail of $1500, which he could not give, and went to jail.

A Times reporter saw Werst before he left the courtroom, and he gave his side of the story. He said that he is a carpenter, and has been rooming at No. 146 California street for some time. He had known McTaggart for about a year, but not intimately. The day before the affray McTaggart saked him to take a drink, and when he declined, got mad. McTaggart was drinking that day. Werst, after going home, kept out of the way of the beligerent McTaggart, and heard that the latter wanted to whip him. Some ladies at the house asked him to keep out of McTaggart's way, and he did not be used to such things. The seemed to be used to such things.

DEAR PLANKS, And Contractors Booth and Hopkins Paid for Them. A fight which occurred about the ownership of three planks was settled in Justice Lockwood's court yesterday. Two contractors on a building in process of erection on Main street, between Second and Third, claimed the boards. They were respectively the brick contractor and the carpenter work contractor. As a result of their dispute John Booth and Daniel Hopkins got into a fight. They punched each other's heads in great shape for awhile, and were then arrested by Constable Fred Smith on a charge of disturbing the peace. That prince of peacemakers settled the dispute then and there by dividing the planks. He gave one to one contractor, one to the other, and cut the third in the middle, giving each a half. This was perfectly satisfactory and the fighters and all hands agreed to let the matter rest on the basis of settlement. Booth appeared in court all right yesterday and paid his $5 fine, but Daniel Hopkins failed to answer to his name and his bond was forfeited. Two contractors on a building in pro-

POLICE SITUATION.

THE "TRIUMVIRATE" BECOM-ING MORE UNHAPPY.

Faced with a Hasty Resolution That They Put on Record and Which Makes the Situation Very Unpleasant-A Movement to Star Gambling Again.

Notwithstanding the harmonious neeting of the Board of Police Commissioners Wednesday afternoon, the in as happy a frame of mind as a casual observer would be led to believe from surface indications. The honorable commissioners are, in fact, in t "hole" of their own digging, and just how to pull themselves out is causing them considerable anxiety. In addition to the clamors of disappointed ap plicants for places on the force, who are howling on account of unfulfilled pledges, the commission is very badly tied up on the gambling proposition, and it is this latter bee that is causing such a disagreeable buzzing in the bonnets of the "triumvirate." As stated in The Times a few days ago, the gamblers have been doing a great deal of talking about opening, and have stated that their places would be running as soon as the Grand Jury adjourned. An effort was made to poolipooh this statement, but that there is something in it is shown from the fact that about the same time certain able politicians began talking about the folly of the city losing $50,000 ay year revenue from this source, and advocating the opening of both the Chinese tan games and white fare banks. It is now believed that a majority of the Council are of this same opinion, and have given the Police Commissioners to understand that they want the games started and periodically raided, when the money can be turned into the city. The commissioners also look favorably on this scheme and tied up on the gambling proposition raided, when the money can be turned into the city. The commissioners also look favorably on this scheme, and even if they do not the Council's wishes would induce them to do so, but they are confronted with a very ugly little complication, and how to untangle it is the great problem of the hour. At the meeting of the commission of Wednesday, April 28th, among other resolutions, Mr. Knox introduced the following:

THE American expedition, to begin work on the Nicaragua Canal, sailed from New York under British colors. Not a very good omen, that. Let us hope that by the time the canal is pleted there will be lots of American ships to sail through it.

THE further the search into the Johnstown ruins is extended the longer grows the list of dead. It has been ome time apparent that the esti mates have been too low. If the population of Johnstown alone was over 30,000, and if not more than 10,000 can be accounted for, the question naturally arises: Where are the rest?

THE BERING SEA DISPUTE.

Several British and United States var vessels being either in Bering Sea or on their way there, the situation in that remote portion of the country will be watched with considerable in-We have every right to anticipate that the mutual forbearance and sound sense which have carried these two great English speaking nations through previous complications will again assert themselves, to obviate any necessity for a resort to the final argument of men and nations. At the same time, questions are likely to arise which will demand all the best diplomatic talent in both countries to bring to a satisfactory conclusion.

The issue between Great Britain and the United States, as to the jurisdiction over the waters of the Bering Sea, is far from settled. The claim, in brief, of the British and Canadian Governments is that the United States can have no rights in the Bering Sea, except such as were acquired by the purchase of Alaska from Russia, and that that Charles S. Adams of Jacksonville. 674 right, in no event, can exceed the narine league from the shore. There is ground left for difference of opinion as to what the shore line is, or where the measurement of the three-mile limit shall begin, but no question is made by Great Britain as to the general fact that the United States has not the right to jurisdiction more than one marine league from the shore. This claim was definitely set up by the British Govern-ment, when the British schooners were seized last year, charged with violating the law prohibiting the kill-ing of fur seals in Alaskan waters. The British counsel filed a demurrer alleging that the District of Alaska had no jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action, for the reason that the schooners were more than one marine league from shore when seized, and that the act of Congress of 1868 is unconstitutional, in that it restricts free navigation of Bering Sea for sealing purposes. There can be no question that the ealed instructions which the United States has just given to the commanders of the revenue cutters and to the commander of the war vessels which are about to go to Alaska fully sustain the claim which the United States from the outset has made of the exclusive right to the jurisdiction of that portion of the Bering Sea in which Great Britain also claims the right to catch seal, based on the assumption that Bering Sea is a closed sea, not an open ocean, and that the "marine-league" rule does not apply in this

CARDINAL ON PROHIBITION

Cardinal Gibbons is an earnest advo cate of high license. We commend the following outspoken and straightpracticable reformers who are de mined to have everything they want or nothing. It is an extract from a speech recently delivered by the Cardinal in Baltimore:

dinal in Baltimore:

"I am decidedly opposed to prohibition as a means of preventing intemperance, because it does not prohibit. Experience has shown in those States where prohibition has been tried that it is not an effective means of preventing the vice of drinking. There are many ways of evading the laws, and often the law connives at the evasions. Prohibition is to be discouraged also because it confounds the drunkard with those who use liquor in moderation, making out a sin where there is no sin. The only places where prohibition might be enforced are thickly-settled country districts. I am very strongly in favor of high license as a means of checking intemperance. I regard high license, with moral suasion, as the mest efficient way of diminishing the drinking vice. In order to make high license effectual, only a limited number of licenses should be issued for each ward, and they should be given only to persons of good reputation, men who stand before the community moral and upright, and owners of property. The licenses should be accomreputation, men who stand before the com-munity moral and upright, and owners of property. The licenses should be accom-panied with strict legislation, and the vio-lation of laws respecting these licenses should be severely punished. Among the punishments should be the withdrawal of license, never to be restored to the one who violates the law.

It is generally taken for granted by Americans that popular education is more general in this than in any other country. An article recently published in a German scientific monthly shows that such is not the case. In the whole German Empire, the proportion of the population unable to read and write is only 1 per cent. In Switzerland it is 21 per cent., while in Sweden, Denmark, Bayaria. Baden and Wurtemburg there is practically no one who cannot read and In the United States, among the white population, the percentage is 8 per cent. On the other hand, the Slavic countries-Russia, Roumania and Servia—come to the front with 80 per cent. of illiterates. The United States percentage is probably largely composed of immigrants from the less enlightened portions of Europe.

THE statement that the P. and O. eamers will enter largely into the carrying of coolies to Lower Californg the cities of the State in nia may offer some explanation of the change of destination of that line of steamships from San Francisco to San Diego. The ships have made big money out of the coolie business, and as they can no longer land Chinamen at San Francisco, they have to seek another outlet. Our people will not view with a very favorable eye this dumping of thousands of Chinamen summer.

within a few miles of a poorly-guarded rontier. Should the occasion require it, Uncle Sam will have to put a few hundred men to work to patrol the line. There are plenty of industrious white men here seeking work in order to support their families, and we have terest during the next few months. all the Chinamen we need. We be lieve in treating those Chinamen well who are here, but self-preservation is the first law of Nature, and our prime duty is to our own race.

THE TIMES acknowledges the receipt, from the Jacksonville Auxiliary Sanitary Association, with its compli ments, of a report of its Executive Committee covering the work of the association during the recent vellow fever epidemic in Florida. The report aims to be comprehensive enough to afford the donors of the magnificent charity fund entrusted to the association information sufficiently compre hensive upon which to base an estimate of the scope of the work undertaken through public generosity, and to judge of the stewardship of the trustees. IF Gen. Leon Abbett is the next Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey, and it is generally admitted that he will be, it is authoritatively stated that Gen. Fisk and most of the leading third-party Prohibitionists will support the Republi-can ticket. Abbett owes a large share of his prominence in New Jersey Democratic circles to the fact that he is counsel for the State Liquor Dealers' Association.

THE Duluth News has been investigating the jury system, and sums up its opinion as follows:

When the American jury system becomes a corrupt and purchasable machine, run in the interest of rascals and bought and sold for money, one of the foundation-stones of the Nation will have fallen from its place, and the whole structure of the Republic will be endangered.

THE Standard Oil Company has se cured control of the entire white lead product of America. If there is anything else in this country that Mr. Rockefeller and his associates would like to have, they will doubtless be so obliging as to mention it.

THE Los Angeles postoffice handled more matter during the past year than at any time during the history of the which is a pretty good indication that there is considerable life in the Angel City yet.

MATTIE VICKERS.-Sunday evening this clever little actress, who has the reputation of being as good if not better than Lotta, will open a week's engagement in the Los Angeles Theater. The admission will be reduced to 20, 30 and 50 cents.

NAT GOODWIN.-Monday evening the NAT GOODWIN.—Monday evening the Grand Opera-house doors will be thrown open, after having been closed a week. Mr. Goodwin fought hard against coming to Los Angeles, but Maneger Wyatt convinced him that this is still a good show town, and he consented to come down here for more wights.

It is a great newspaper in every feature which goes to make up a great newspaper, and is, of course, a fair reflex of its bold and brilllant editor. H. G. The only other notable witness of today was John F. Biggs, a lawyer, Senior Guardian (presiding officer) of Camp No. 20, Clan-na-Gael. Biggs was cross-examined in a way that for freedom and scope could scarcely be surpassed. He testified that H. H. Sullivan, the tee man, is a member of Camp No. 20. Other than this the relevancy of the bulk of witness's testimony was not apparent at this stage of the proceedings. Witness's declared himself a friend of Alexander Sullivan.

The Daily News tomorrow will say: It does not appear that the Irish cause lost any money by Alexander Sullivan's banking operations. Mr. Sullivan, when asked what bank his account was transferred to from the Traders', promptly replied: "The Chicago National."

Lawyer A. S. Trude, speaking for Mr. Sullivan, in an interview, said: "Mr. Sullivan combination desiring to operate on the Board of Trade, and his receipts all show the word "agent." Sullivan did not know anything about speculations of this character, probably

His name was simply used on Lester & Co.'s books by a syndicate of bucket-shop men in order that they might do business on the Board of Trade when their orders made it necessary for them to do so. The syndicate was made up of such firms as Murphy & Co. Mr. Sullivan met some of these parties in his law practice, and was given large sums of money, with explicit written directions what to do with it. They or their customers were gainers or lossrs by the transactions made by Lester & Co., not Alexander Sullivan. The public knows very well that the Board of Trade would not sanction Lester & Co., or any other firm, doing an open business for a lacket shop, and this was the reason for concealment and the use of Mr. Sullivan's unme. CIVIL SERVICE SCANDAL

"The Civil Service Commission, having concluded in part their investigation into the recent management of the New York ustomhouse, so far as the behavior of the ocal examining board and the question of proper observance of the Civil Service Law local examining board and the question of proper observance of the Civil Service Law as regards the entrance by examination are concerned, finds that the recent management of examinations for admission has been characterized by great laxity and negligence, and, on the part of some of the customhouse employes, by positive fraud.

"The clerk of the board himself festifies that certain examinatious were farcical in character, and it has been clearly shown that, at least in one case, the applicant for admission had his papers written for him by another person, and that applicant sometimes found out the questions in advance, owing to the loose way of conducting the examinations, and have sometimes been given the examination papers beforehand by customhouse employes for personal, political or pecuniary considerations." The report adds that there is evidence that persons without political influence, who had passed examinations, had little chance of securing a position.

WHERE ARE THE PEOPLE? The real work of ascertaining who the living and dead of Johnstown are, started living and dead of Johnstown are, started this morning. A corps of clerks under direction of the Relief Committee will go to every house in the vicinity and procure the names of the living. Another corps will endeavor to find out who the missing are. A revision of the register list shows only 13,000 people registered to 1 o'clock this afterneon. By this it is plainly apparent that a large number of survivors will not take the trouble to register. The great number of bodies not identified seems almost incredible. Some of these have lain in different bodies not identified seems almost incredible. Some of these have lain in different morgues four days.

Doubt has been expressed as to the estimate that 12,000 to 15,000 were lost in the flooded district. Of course, there is no way of determining with any degree of exactitude, but guessing. A reasonable conservative view, based on close figuring, gives at least 3500 bodies found (2000 at the lowest calculation) in the burned debris in the river, and 3000 in the unsearched sand banks around the Cambria Iroa Works, down along the river, and in the lower part of Johnstown. From 1000 to 2000 are scattered in the valley from Woodville to the bridge, and 1000 or 2000 below the bridge between Johnstown and Bolivar. Hundreds were carried down to the broad rivers in the tremendous current, and may never come into the hands of the living.

Said Adjt.-Gen. Hastings this morning: "In my opinion the loss is greater than we can now show figures for." The Altoona delegation, who have been all over the district since Sunday morning, say the loss is 10,000 to 14,000, and base it on talk with scores of all sorts of people. The absence of former residents and of fixed and familiar population is most striking. There are thousands of strangers and workmen from a distance, but for three days one perpetual question was asked. "Where are the people? Here are about ten thousand; where are the rest?"

Among the bodies identified today was that of Oscar Hennecarap, for the recovery of whose remains a large reward was offered.

THE RELIEF WORK.

Very Little Money Yet at Johns-town-Much Needed. Johnstown (Pa.), June 6.—|By the Asciated Press.] The Relief Committee is be made national in its scope. Action to that effect was taken at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the local relief organization this afternoon. The plan was proposed by parties high in authority, and has been given the official sanction of the Finance Committee by the following clauses of this afternoon's resolution:

"The survivors of the flood are now, and must be for some time, wholly dependent upon issues to them of food and clothing, as there are no goods here except those brought by the Relief Committee places in which commerces can be carried on. Agencies for making such distributions should receive consideration. It is the unanimous consensus of this committee that another committee should be appointed that another committee should be appointed for this purpose, composed in part of citizens of this locality and of members appointed by Governors of States, by chambers of commerce of cities from which contributions have been received, or in such other way as will give this agency a national character and assure the country that its most generous charity will be judiciously and fully applied to the relief of the victius of our unprecedented calamity."

Up to today the committee has received in actual cash contributions $25,796.18, with $57,115.45 promised in addition. The greater part of this is represented by telegrams from a distance instructing the committee to draw on certain banks. This is an impossibility, as there are no banking facilities left here. The committee nopes that contributors will forward money by express to J. D. Roberts. It is stated that Philadelphia has promised $300,000, which is now at the disposal of the committee. Gov. Beaver has reported $100,000 at hand, but has not made any move to send it so far as known. Pittsburgh has about $300,000 in receipts.

MAYOR GRANT'S OFFER.

NEW YORK, June 6.--Mayor Grant this

New York, June 6.—Mayor Grant this afternoon asked Gov. Beaver if portable houses would be useful. In a few minutes Gov. Beaver sent the reply:

"Supplies of clothing and bedding are greatly needed both in Williamsport and Lock Haven. We are shipping supplies to both points. Houses are, I think, very desirable, as I have urgent requests for more tents to shelter the homeless and those who are at work removing the debris. If houses could be pushed forward at once they would bring much needed relief. The removal of the vast accumulation of wreckage at Johnstown will be a work of weeks, and it is estimated by reliable parties to cover $1,000,000."

PITTSBURGH, June 6 .- Contributions are

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—Contributions are coming in rapidly for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers. It is estimated at the Chamber of Commerce that $300,000 has been subscribed. Chairman McCreary of the relief committee tonight issued a circular, in which he states:

"It will require 10,000 men to clear the wreck along the ten miles of destruction and place the city in a safe sanitary condition. This will cost double the amount now in the hands of the committee, and leaves nothing for the sufferers and destitute, whose number is very great. The destitute are brought to this city, clothed and fed and housed, or sent free to friends all over the land. We ask that the generous subscriptions which are coming in from all over the country be continued until sufficient funds are provided to complete the above work."

Johnstown (Pa.), June 6.—[By the Associated Press. A wall has been thrown around Johnstown, and nobody can enter it unless it is shown that he has business in the city. The Pennsylvania Railway has been making every effort to keep out the crowd, but the Baltimore and Ohio was pened yesterday, and brought in a flood of onference with Chairman Scott of the Citizens' Committee and members of the Pitts-burgh police, and it was decided to send a company of the Fourteenth Regiment to Somerset for the purpose of preventing any further rush of people this way. A committee of citizens accompanied the military. They will stop off at all the stations along the road, and remonstrate with the people against coming to Johnstown. The crowds of curious ones are constantly growing, to the hindrance of the work of removing bodies and clearing away the debris. On the Pennsylvania roadside the gates are practically shut, and it is hoped that this move will have some affect on the Baltimore and Ohio. There is but one bridge across the Conemaugh, and nothing but a pass from Adjt.-Gen. Hastings or Scott will carry one over it.

Gloom settles over Johnstown as the sun goes down, the colored lanterns of the railroaders being about the only relief from the darkness. Dr. Gross of the Health Board says there will be 1000 men at work here tomorrow. The sanitary question is the paramount one of the hour. She was a missionary on her way to Brazil for the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church.

Some of the country farther back is quietly but steadily settling up. There is no noise about it, but I am told the lumber yards are selling more lumber to go back in the country than ever known before. It is principally in small tracts—10, 20, 40 and 80 acres. Each family that is coming in is settling on a small place, and each one says it has four, five or six more families that are coming in as soon as they get settled comfortably. No one can realize what is going on unless he takes a trip occasionally to the country, and each time he will see a new house and evidence of new-comers.

When Los Angeles and San Diego get to manufacturing a little more farm machinery that we need it will be better for the country every way. Now, just in front of my office stands a freight train just in; on one car is two threshing machines and engines, and on another a couple of threshers and some other farm machinery. Another car is loaded with wagons from Wisconsin, and so it goes, and there is no excuse for it. We can manufacture just as well as the East, and why not do it?

we want more railroads. They will come; but right here is the best show for some of the idle capital in the counup the Sau Isals Rey Valley badly. To Smith Mountain a survey has been made and a natural grade found, only just 13 feet to the mile, through a partially-developed country. Smith Mountain has thousands of acres of timber lands, and I know of a dozen parties that would put in lumber miles as soon as ground was broken upon the road.

S2 Years.

[San Bernardino Courier, June 4th.]
Yesterday Miss Mary Crane, aged 53 years, was a passenger on the Santa Fé overland train from the East en route to Lordsburg, where she goes to meet her betrothed husband, whom she has not seen for 32 years! Here is constancy for you, as romantic as that of the novel of the most romantic asthat farmer, whose home is located in the pleasant town of Lordsburg. He is somewhat older than the bride, and like her, has lived a life of single blessedness—or wretchedness, or of disappointment, at least, under the circumstances. What an episode to meet in real life in this inconstant age. The prospective bride was in appearance very typish. "Old maid" was written indelibly on her plain but frank and in conversation, manners and "air" plainly belongs to the plain, prim, old-fashioned country type of people of whom one gets realistic glimpses in Lowell's poetry and Howell's pores.

In Jail.

[Examiner, June 5th.]

The adventure of Miss Anastasia O'Brien, who sought to elope from Alameda a few nights ago, has had a sequel in the arrest of the young lady at the instance of her sister, who alleges that Anastasia is of unsound mind, and that it is unsafe for her to be allowed to roam at large. The result is that the young lady is in jail at Oakland awaiting an examination as to her mental condition.

When seen yesterday the young lady laughingly said that confinement was rather irksome, but she guessed she would have to stand it for a little while.

"No, I have no fear that I will be sent to the asylum, as I am no more crazy than my sister. All I want is to get out, and I'll guarantee that Oakland or Alameda will never see me again.

"Where was I going that night? Why, I was going just where the get out, and I'll guarantee that Oakland or Alameda will never see me again.

"Where was I going that night? Why, I was going just where the Examiner said I was going, and that was to Los Angeles, and you bet I'll get there yet. The only thing I'm sorry for is that Mr. Green's name was mixed up in the case. I never saw him before in my life, and he was very kind to me."

LIVELY BREEZE OVER FED-ERAL APPOINTMENTS.

The Fight Over the Postoffice and Collector's Berth-Strong Oppo sition to M. D. Hamilton-Reasons Therefor - Criticisms of "the Powers That Be."

Several citizens who are acquainted with the politics and the political needs of San Diego have been heard from within the past few days, regarding the rumored recommendations of Congressman Vandever for the Federal offices in that city—the postmastership and the collectorship of the port. Enough has been learned to make it certain that there is a local commotion over the appointments, and gentlemen fresh from the field of contention say that the air is wont to grow sultry when the proposition to appoint "the other fellow" is broached. The principal candidates for the postoffice are Chapman, Kutchin and Berry (not vouching that the order in which they iority"). The two latter have both been editors of the Union, but neither is now connected with that paper. The contest is animated, but there is no such feeling engen-dered by it as that which marks the dered by it as that which marks the fight over the collectorship, as it is conceded that any one of the three candidates named has at least some qualifications for the place.

Among the candidates for Collector of the Port are Maj. W. H. Bailhache, Capt. Johnson and County Clerk M. D. Hamilton, the holder of a fat office, with which, they say, he ought to be satisfied.

with which, they say, he ought to be satisfied.

The report that Gen. Vandever has recommended Hamilton's appointment has caused excitement and feeling among San Diego Republicans, and the recommendation is severely and openly denounced by many of the most reliable leaders of the party, one gentleman going so far as to say that if the appointment should be made, Gen. Vandever would lose standing in San Diego.

Vandever would lose standing in San Diego.

On the 29th ult. a report got abroad, and was published in the Sun, that the recommendation for Hamilton's appointment had been forwarded to Washington. The report was found to have no foundation in fact, but for a time it created a breeze, and served to develop some of the feeling that would be exhibited in case it should become an actuality. It was clearly demonstrated that the appointment of Hamilton, under the circumstances, would be exceedingly distasteful to the large majority of Republicans, and more especially to the working members of the party, and to the great body of the Grand Army in San Diego, many of whom, it is maintained, have good cause for their opposition to Hamilton.

Hamilton.

It is stated that Gen. Vandever is being shaply criticised in San Diego for encouraging the Democrats in their retention of the two important Federal offices; and, as the present Congressman is believed (though erroneously so) to be largely influenced by his predecessor, Col. Markham, this feeling is liable to extend to him also (unless his true position is made known to the San Diego Republicans), especially if it is understood that he is throwing his ladeau that the second is the season to believe this to be a mistake, and that Gen. Vandever, for reasons sufficient to him, is alone backing Hamilton.) ing Hamilton.)

Coroner Meredith yesterday went out to Ramona, where he held an in-

From the evidence of the woman's husband, it appears that she was addicted to drink,. and she was addicted to drink, and when under the influence of liquor had frequently threatened to take her life. Wednesday afternoon she took the strychnine in a glass of liquor and when the poison began to operate she told him, when he went for one of the neighbors and a physician, but when he returned she was dead. Only one other witness, Rosa Tietze, a school girl, was examined, when the jury returned a verdict that "Annie E. About 11:30 o'c'ock yesterday morning, a fire broke out in Simmons & Son's feed mill, near the lower junction of Main and Spring streets, and for a time threatened the destruction of the entire row of one-story buildings in that locality. The engines, however, turned out promptly, and in a few minutes the flames were under control and confined to the building in which they originated. The front part of the raill was occupied as a fruit and cigar store by F. A. Mussick, who sustained alloss of $50. The fire is supposed to have been caused by sparks from the engine of the mill, petroleum being used as fuel.

The officers should be chosen for their fitness to fill the positions: the offices not given as the men of good business ability, honesty and of economical tendencies. We must not allow aspiring demagogues to force themselves upon us through rings or cliques. Let every officer be the free choice of the people. #### CLERK KIRKE

COMMITTED TO SAN QUENTI FOR ONE YEAR.

Unhappy Plight to Which Whisky and Gambling Lus Brought a Young Man of Prontise-An Impressive Sermon in a Few Words.

James L. Kirke stood up before Judge Cheney yesterday morning for sentence, the picture of despair. He is the ex-clerk of the Nadeau Hotel who stole a sack of money from the safe several months ago, and was captured at San Pedro with his booty. He pleaded guilty to the charge a few days ago. Kirke is an intelligent good-looking young man about 27 years old. As he stood before the Judge he hung his head, humiliated and ashamed. When asked if he had any reason to offer why sentence should not be passed, he replied in a should not be passed, he replied in a low tone, and as if utter apathy had settled upon him never to be shaken off, that he knew of none. But his counsel addressed the Court in his behalf, and made a strong plea for leniency. He said that he satisfied from investigation that kirks was persuaded into the crime by others; that his character before that time had been perfectly good. He said that that his character before that time had been perfectly good. He said that Kirke's family is an honorable one, and he felt justified in appealing to the Court for mercy. He believed that, with a light sentence, the young man would come forth a good citizen. He said that Kirke was drunk when the crime was committed, and others are more to blame than he is.

Mr. Sohreiber, manager of the Nadeau, testified that, up to the time of the crime, Kirke had been always regarded as honorable.

the crime, Kirke had been always regarded as honorable.
Judge Cheney asked Kirke a few questions, to which he briefly responded. He said he had been brought up on a farm, and his father is a farmer. He had been a hotel clerk 10 years. He was led to the commission of the crime by drinking and gambling. He believed he could leave them alone and be a good citizen if he had a chance.

The Court then sentenced the pris oner to one year's imprisonment at San Quentin, saying: "Kirke, you have pleaded guilty to the crime with which you are charged, and the Court is disposed to give you a chance. The Court believes that the theory of punishment should be to reform criminals and yot reaks them. But the penitanand not make them. But the penitentiary is a school for crime. It is hard to say so, but it is a fact, nevertheless. Men sent there for a long term become graduates in crime. It is not the desire of the Court to make a criminal of you, but to give you a chance to be-come a good citizen. I believe that your former good character justifies me in giving you a light sentence, and therefore I make it one year at San Cuentin?

Yesterday afternoon the patrol wagon was called to Franklin street by some would-be wag as a joke. The boys were considerably annoyed over the matter, and the next time they are sent out on a wild-goose chase the proprietors of the place where the telephone is located will be arrested unless they can show that they had nothing to do with the "joke."

Next Saturday Judge W. F. Fitzshow that they had nothing to do with the "joke."

Next Saturday Judge W. F. Fitzgerald and James Anderson will leave for San Francisco to present their petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the Cuddy case. They will present it to Judge Sawyer of the United States Circuit Court of the Ninth Circuit. The Government will be represented by United States District Attorney Gen. Johnson Carey.

President Frankenfield and several other members of the Council, together with Chief of Police Burns, yesterday made an inspection of Elysian Park, with a view to determining the best route for the road, which it is proposed to build around the park. The party had a very pleasant drive, and enjoyed themselves immensely, but no definite decision was arrived at, so far as the road is concerned.

The second annual calico party of John A. Logan Post, G.A.R., was given last night at Turnverein Hall on South Spring street. It was a brilliant success. The attendance was large and the costumes were interesting and pretty. The programme was a neat pleee of work, being of calico. Upon the cover a number of dancing girls in calico costumes suggested the nature of the occasion. There was dancing until a late hour.

There was no meeting of the Board of Health last night, a quorum failing or the occasion. There was dancing until a late hour.

There was no meeting of the Board of Health last night, a quorum failing to materialize on account of the absence from the city of Dr. Kurtz and the illness of Dr. Davisson. Clerk Robinson was promptly on hand at so'clock, and a few minutes after that hour Mr. Wright came in, and after waiting half an hour without either Mayor Hazard or Dr. Hagan putting in an appearance the reporters left, thus breaking up the meeting.

The Board of Public Works, accompanied by two or three reporters, took a junketing trip over the city yesterday afternoon inspecting certain proposed improvements, including the extension of Hoff street, East Los Angeles, the proposed conduit for conducting the water from the Arroyo de los Fosas and the grading of Court circle, out on Temple street. The board enjoyed a very pleasant ride, but the practical results of the trip could not be ascertained at last accounts.

THE BATTLE OF THE BEES. On June 7, 1827, occurred one of those conflicts which naturalists have more than once had the opportunity of observing. It was a battle between two swarms of bees and was fought in the English village of Cargo, near Carlisle. A day or two earlier one of these communities had swarmed in the usual way, and been safely hived. On the day of the battle, a swarm of bees from some neighboring hive were to be seen flying over the garden in which the first mentioned hive was situated. They instantly darted down upon the hive and completely covered it; in a little time they began to enter the hive and completely covered it; in a little time they began to enter the hive and poured into it in such numbers that it soon became completely struggle. A loud humming noise was presently heard, and both armies of combatants rushed forth; the besiegers and besieged did not fight in the hive, but in the open air. So fierce was the struggle that the ground beneath soon became covered with the wounded and slain; the wounded crawled about paintully, unable to rise, and rejoined their fellow warriors. Not until one party was vanquished and driven away did the struggle end, when the victors resumed possession of the hive.

FREDERICK WILLIAM III., FREDERICK WILLIAM III.

King of Prussia, was born in 1770, and succeeded his father, Frederick William II., November 16, 1797. He observed a strict neutrality in the wars of the French Revolution until the French troops violated the neutrality Notice.

SOUTH SIDE IRRIGATION CO., he entered the coalition against France of Anspach, when in November, 1805, he entered the coalition against France with Russia and the other powers; but immediately after the battle of Austerlitz, in the same year, he made a treaty with Napoleon by which he acquired Hanover, which had formerly belonged to the Kings of England. This treaty caused England to declare war against Prussia, upon which Napoleon offered to restore Hanover to the English and Frederick William renewed the war against France. The crushing defeats of Jena and Aurstadt compelled the Prussian King to give up half his territory. Frederick William hastened to restore the losses of the war by various reforms, including the abolition of serfdom. In the general peace of 1814-15, Prussia recovered all the territory previously lost, besides half of Saxony. On his death, June 7, 1840, Frederick William was succeeded by his son, Frederick William IV., and on the latter's death in January, 1861, by a younger son, William I., who was afterward crowned Emperor of Germany.

The outbreak occurred on June 7th, and for three days the city was in possession of the mob. A considerable amount of property was destroyed, but at length order was restored by the tardy intervention of the military. on June 7, 1780, and which Dickens
